The Department of Labor does not specifically track ASD data in employment but experts estimate unemployment and underemployment rates may climb as high as 80-90%. Each year, around 100,000 individuals on the autism spectrum will become adults and seek their place as contributing members of society. Autism spectrum disorder (ASD) is a neurological and developmental disorder that affects how people interact with others, communicate, learn, and behave.

Ways you can get involved:

- monetary and/or item donations
- on-the-job training (OJT)
- informational interviews
- volunteer experiences
- mock interviews
- resume reviews
- job placements
- guest speaking
- shadow days
- jobsite tours
- sponsorship
- internships
